

NewHire Elements is a simple, effective recruiting solution designed to jumpstart your hiring. With Elements, you benefit from unparalleled support and consulting from our professionals. We guide you throughout the hiring process, giving you the tools and help you need to make a great hire.

Here's what you get with Elements:

1 Job Title

Elements allows you to hire unlimited people for one job title. For example, you can hire multiple Administrative Assistants because it is the same job title.

Recruitment Advertising

Our software packages include free advertising for your open positions on Indeed.com, SimplyHired.com and our NewHire Job Board. Additional premium advertising packages are also available. Learn more.

Up to 3 Users

Elements allows access for 3 users.

Professionally Written Job Ad

Our professionals write an attractive, attention-catching job ad for the open position. Our customers report getting significantly better candidate pools when we write the job advertisements.

One-on-One Recruiting Consultation

When you choose Elements, you'll be assigned to a recruiting professional who will work with you throughout the hiring process. Recruiting consultations consist of three parts: Discovery, Advertising, and Candidate Screening.

1. Discovery

During this one-hour interview, your NewHire recruiting professional will ask questions designed to fully explore the details of the job and the culture of the employer. Your recruiting professional will use information from the interview to write the recruitment advertisement and the candidate screening questions.

2. Advertising

Once you approve your NewHire application, your recruiting professional will make advertising recommendations and publish the ads on NewHire, Indeed & SimplyHired.

3. Candidate Screening

Your recruiting professional will review candidates with you and offer guidance to help you make the best hire. You will also learn to use NewHire's powerful candidate screening and tracking tools.

On-Demand Phone Support

We're here to help! Although NewHire is easy-to-use, we realize that you may have questions along the way. Our On-Demand Phone Support provides one-on-one phone assistance to answer your hiring and software questions when you need it.
